NINETEEN HUNDRED AND TWENTY NINE

VOL. VII

PUBLISHED BY THE SENIOR CLASS
OF
FARM LIFE HIGH SCHOOL
CHINA GROVE, N. C.

Foreword

Modernity sets a higher value on the free life of the country-bred boys and girls—their scope, their imagination, their fresh vigor and cleanliness. Because in this stage of our growth, we do not wish to forget the farm from which they have come, we adapt it as our motif. Whatever pleasure the reader may derive from this annual we wish to attribute to that same “farm life” which has made our book pleasurable.

Arthur Mahlon Hanna

To show that his loyalty, his efforts to build and maintain a good school, and his interests in each student are deeply appreciated, we dedicate this, the seventh volume of THE PARROT, to Mr. Hanna, who has served as chairman of the executive committee of the Farm Life School since its inception in 1913, and who is an invaluable friend.

School Song

*Just one school, yes it's our own school,
And our motto is always the golden rule.
Sun or rain, it is just the same,
We'll be loyal forever to our own school.*

E. D. JOHNSON
Principal

Mr. Johnson was born at St. Paul's, N. C., in 1890. He attended Wake Forest College and graduated there in 1913. In September of that year he became the head of the science department of Asheville High School. His fourth year in Asheville was interrupted by his enlistment in the war. Eight months of the following two years were spent overseas. Demobilization sent him back to teaching and for seven years afterwards he was superintendent of the city schools of Lincolnton, N. C. In 1926 he came to China Grove. From that time to this he has served as superintendent of schools, high school principal, citizen and friend.

MISS JANIE JONES

MR. PRATT KARRIKER

SUE MCGARITY

Sue is another new member this year. But we'll vote for her any 'ole time. She is happy, peppy, pretty, and a good student.

HELEN HARRISON

Once in a great while they happen—these people who have the knack of living, knowing that the smaller things take care of themselves and that the larger things are worth seeking.

FRANK SLOOP

They don't make but one in a hundred—aren't we glad that we got that one! Good-looking, nice, neat, studious—what more can a fellow be?

CARL HAMMER

Walking Webster

Can't be beaten. . . We'll put him up against any school. Carl has been one of us for four years—even though he has had the good fortune of being bestowed the majority of the A's we don't begrudge him one. He has earned them.

ELIZABETH HARRIS

Liz

Red sweaters—blue eyes—high heels—that Liz—Chapel wouldn't look just right minus Liz, noted for her flirtatious ways.

NANNIE PEARLE MILLER

Gentlemen Prefer Blondes

Nannie Pearle is our affirmation to this well known statement. She, herself, speaks for the modern generation of blondes.

ELMER SAFRIET

We feel a delicacy in putting him in here without his better half. But cheer up, Elmer. Now, I ask you, would our halls be halls without Elmer and—standing at the window?

LURLINE BEAVER

Many a Titian-headed woman has been a man's downfall

Lurline has been a brilliant figure in all our school activities.

FAYE STIREWALT

Sweet—snappy lookin'—sincere

That's our Faye. Speaking of ever ready—Faye has earned that name in our class. Ever ready to help out in any way.

RUTH WILLETTE

Nothing like using your eyes, is there, Ruth? But cast an eye around in the next few years and look us over.

ROGERS DAYVAULT

What would we have done without him? Kept us laughing while the faculty kept us steppin'.

LILLIAN OWENSEY

Another one of F. L. S's famous blondes. Lillian has never fallen down on her work and if you want her she is "here."

RALPH CORRIHER

The Class Sheik

Oh me! Why wasn't I born rich instead of just good looking, is what he says—the ladies just won't keep away.

LEX RITCHIE

The ideal husband

Oh boy! These Ritchies—Lex is our ladies' man and is here to tell you just why gentlemen prefer blondes.

PEARLE STIREWALT

Pearle, Roasy, Agnes—which, Miss Jones?

EVELYN PATTERSON

Petite, pretty, precise

Evelyn has won her way through. Some of us have gotten by and even through, but how many of us can say we've won?

MARIE CARTER

Marie has done more than just "cart her" books around. She has studied.

RUTH CAUBLE

Ruth is our class beauty. She broadcasts talks on "Beauty Attainable."

DELLA POWLAS

Look on our page of outstanding athletes. Della's one of these irresistible red-headed women.

ELIZABETH PIRIE

There's plenty of pep behind that slow drag. She can sling a wicked ball—and has pulled China Grove's score up many a time.

ZELIA BLACKWELDER

Zelia has stuck by, even through the short hair growin' long period and when a person does that—well.

PEARLE SAFRIET

While she sees a tall brunette walking down the hall—she bursts into “That’s my weakness now.” Ain’t love grand, Pearle?

VIOLA POOLE

Little Bit

Viola is our class baby. But she’ll fool you! Viola has been a loyal member and hasn’t come up lacking.

PEARL KELLER

’Ole Socrates

Pearl hasn’t been here so long. But we pride ourselves on knowing a good thing when we see it. She is the type that guesses and keeps you guessing.

HUBART BARNHARDT

Quiet, but he'll fool you? We have learned to depend on him, and it didn't take us long.

LENA SMITH

Steady, sincere, sweet, generous, faithful, loyal, studious—nuff said!

ETHEL SUTHER

Four years ago Ethel made up her mind to make good at F. L. S. This has been accomplished.

EVELYN MENIUS

Quiet and unassuming — don't hide your light under a bushel measure, Evelyn.

ELMA PATTERSON

Peppy—pretty—pert

That's our Elma. In her eyes gleam the atmosphere of divorce courts—red carnations and blue dresses.

MABEL ARCHER

We were afraid someone beside the Senior class would possess our Mabel. But that has been put off until next year. Good luck!

MITCHELL HOUCK

Mitch

Mitchell, Mitchell, what are we going to do with you? Will you never be serious?

HOWARD TEMPLETON

Howard has helped us lots and we'll remember it. The boys like him—the women can't resist him—ah, me!

MABEL HONBARGER

A woman of few words is rest to the ear.

JULIA LEONARD

'Ole Jul has a way about her

Julia has been our friend. That's enough said—'cause there is many a day when a feller needs a friend.

FAYE CARTER

Faithful, friendly, fond of fun—
and people. Sometimes, I'm afraid,
Faye looks at us with our little worries and smiles to herself.

ZULA FOUTZ

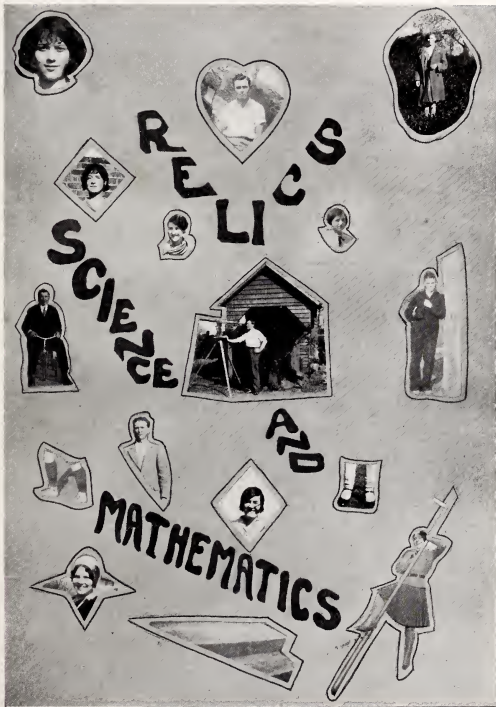

Foutz—before—Foutz now, but we all know, not forever.

ETHEL PROPST

"Still waters run deep."

Class Poem

As in the spring the wood dove
 Coos softly to his mate,
 As her loyal children love
 Our splendid old North State,
 So we, so filled with gladness
 Of youth and joy like wine,
 Have never a care or sadness,
 The Class of 'Twenty-nine.

But still a shadow slightly
 Dims all our eyes today;
 We cannot take it lightly,
 This parting of the way.
 Four happy years within your walls,
 Dear Farm Life School of mine,
 Are ending now; the great world calls
 The Class of 'Twenty-nine.

'Mid distant scenes, in other climes,
 Though fate may make us dwell,
 Sweet memories of these carefree times
 Will weave their charmed spell.
 Dear classmates all, we'll toast our school
 And days of Auld Lang Syne,
 Nor ever let fond friendship cool,
 The Class of 'Twenty-nine.

—Written for the members of the class of Twenty-nine by their friend and admirer, CARL HAMMER, SR.

History of the Senior Class

One morning in September, 1925, a group of boys and girls gathered from all directions at the Farm Life School. To us it was an exceedingly important group, for it was composed of—ourselves!

The sky was cloudy at first; then the sun shone. It was a good omen; we feel that ever since then the sun has been shining on the class of 'Twenty-nine.

Naturally, the upper classmen tried to show us "A few things," so we showed them a few more. Our first manifestation of hostilities was the selection of Ruth Cauble for president, and Miss Worshaw for our advisor.

Coming back the next fall, we found that Mr. Johnson had taken charge and was reorganizing the school, very much for the better. That year Miss Jones and Mr. Karriker became our class advisors, and fortunately they still are.

As juniors, we had a better class organization than before. Since we were having a larger part in the school life, more pleasure in our work and play was ours.

But the last year has been the best. For president we chose Elma Patterson, whose ability for managing class affairs has been shown ever since she entered high school. The business manager of THE PARROT enjoys the distinction of having served in that capacity during both his junior and senior years. It is unnecessary to speak of his success; it is so well known.

Virgil, in his greatest Latin poem, says, "There are twin gates of sleep" (Sunt geminae Somni portae). Through those are our high school days about to pass, never to be awakened except in memory. Happy we have been to attend such a school! May what we have learned enable us to take an ever broadening view of God's great Universe, which apparently has no end, and of our Earth within it.

—CARL HAMMER.

Class Prophecy

The day is ending. In an upstairs room at the Girls' Dormitory sits a girl concentrating very hard. Her brow is wrinkled like that of an aged woman, for she is in deep meditation. Can you guess her trouble? Yes, she has been chosen prophet of the class of '29.

As another day dawns, if you will quietly peep through the door you will see this same girl huddled close to the radiator. Now, one at a time, if you wish to see what she has predicted, peep over her shoulder and read; for she is fast asleep with the results of the weary night clutched in her hands. Again I say, "Peep over her shoulder and see the future of your classmates."

Back at the Girls' Dormitory you will find Lena Smith following in the footsteps of Miss Jones. Lena is dean of girls and head of the history department.

Sue McGarity chose as her profession one of the hardest things in life—marriage. Sue, way down in California, is making a success at her chosen work.

In a comfortable home sits a girl of the class of '29, known to us as Mabel Archer, but now happily married. She is sewing—yes—making a pair of rompers for a beautiful little round-eyed baby boy who is quietly sitting at her feet, playing with his toys.

Jacob Yost is filling Dr. Stirewalt's place as director of music, at Farm Life.

Yes, in the Metropolitan Opera House you will find—is it Galli Cruci? No, look again. It is none other than Lurline Beaver, charming the world with her beautiful soprano voice.

Frank Sloop is editor of the Los Angeles Times, the greatest newspaper in California. Facing his desk sits Helen Harrison, his secretary. Judging from the way he looks at her, one would think, "It won't be long now."

Carl Hammer can be found in Washington, head of the Bureau of Astronomy.

The world's most beautiful and elaborate hotel possesses as its proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Miller, formerly Elma Patterson.

Three of our girls became disgusted with men. In a cute little bungalow, away from the whirl of the city patiently sit Pearl Stirewalt, Zelia Blackwelder, and Pearle Safriet waiting to grasp any man that comes their way. While waiting, each is engaged in writing love stories for some of our most popular magazines.

Jesse Smith has recently been elected director of the Traffic and Safety Department of North Carolina.

As you enter Johns Hopkins hospital you will see above the door on the right side a little sign that reads like this: "Head Nurse—Fay Carter."

Mr. and Mrs. Lex Ritchie, Lex and our Pearle Keller, are conducting the new Ritchie Business school, situated on the square at China Grove.

In the Vitaphone studios at New York City, Viola Poole broadcasts daily, using the subject, "The Proper Care of Infants."

Lillian Owensby has succeeded Miss Sue E. Reece as Supervisor of Rowan County schools.

The Wayne P. Sewell Co. of Atlanta is fortunate in having Elizabeth Harris as one of its prominent coaches.

Whatever time Mitchell Houck is not in jail, he is transporting alcoholic beverages. It's a secret—his route is from Salisbury to Charlotte.

Ruth Cauble was visiting Sue Carol in Hollywood the other day. At a dinner she met "Buddy" Rodgers, and what do you suppose? She is his leading lady in his next picture, "Why Men Go Wild."

Our good old farmer! He seems to think there is nothing like it. At the University of North Carolina Ralph Corriher is teaching agriculture.

A big day in movie land! At last a shiek to take the place of the late Rudolph Valentino. Who is the lucky man? Rogers Dayvault, of course.

Nannie Pearle Miller has quit cooking. She is living with a rich and dignified lady in the heart of New York. Nannie Pearle expects to become an heiress some day.

Now we find Evelyn Menius, Ethel Propst, and Evelyn Patterson tackling their first big job as interior decorators in the home of the former Miss Janie Jones.

Out on the large athletic field at Harvard University, Elmer Safriet works daily coaching all kinds of athletics.

One of the girls is making her home in the White House. Julia Leonard has recently accepted a position as secretary to President Hoover.

The emergency field for aviators situated between China Grove and Landis possesses as its superintendent Faye Stirewalt.

Surrounded by well tilled soil is a farm house. Out in a large field near the house is a man ploughing. Of course, it is none other than Hubert Barnhardt, North Carolina's master farmer. Look, who is the woman smiling happily in the doorway? Marie Carter, now Mrs. Barnhardt, has just prepared the supper, and awaits her husband's return from the field.

The new Willette Hospital in China Grove, donated by the rich and famous Ruth Willette, possesses Ethel Suther, Mabel Honbarger, and Zula Foutz as its head nurses, assisted by the world famous surgeon, Howard Templeton.

P. S.—We saw that you needed help. Our specialty is "helping others." Therefore, we, by the help of our magic globe, predicted the future of your classmates. Classmates, if you have not been given justice do not blame the prophet, for she slept. We wrote the future of the class of '29.—The Elves.

—FAYE STIREWALT.

Last Will and Testament

NORTH CAROLINA, ROWAN COUNTY.
CHINA GROVE.

We, the class of 1929, realizing the fact that our stay at the Farm Life School is coming to a close, and having in our possession much property which has accumulated during our stay here, wish to rid ourselves of it by proclaiming this our last will and testament.

MISS JONES—"The world is blessed by women who do things." Miss Jones has a heart of gold. "Nuf sed."

MARY LOUISE BROWN—"Music hath charms."

DELLA POWLAS—"Not too serious, not too gay, but a wonderful girl when it comes to play."

NANNIE PEARLE MILLER—"A smile for all, a greeting glad, a lovely, jolly way she had."

NELLIE SUE MCNEELY—"To meet her is to love her."

LURLINE BEAVER—"Like a queen is her happy tread, and like a queen is her golden head."

ELMA PATTERSON—"She is pretty to look at and pleasant to think on."

FAYE STIREWALT—"Some think the world was made for fun and frolic and so does she."

MARY E. MILLER—"Eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow you probably can't."

HELEN JAMES—"Popular is she who has the gift of making everyone her friend."

ELIZABETH PIRIE—"Happy is she, from care she is free. Why isn't everyone contented as she?"

KITTIE MARGARET DELLINGER—"A splendid girl, sincere and true—that's our little 'Kit'."

Our Coaches

MISS MARGARET EAGLES

In a world of folks there are few such as Miss Eagles, who can fasten themselves to an objective until results are obtained. A sincere and industrious worker herself, she inspires a clean-cut game from the team.

PRATT D. KARRIKER

Three years ago Mr. Karriker came back to his old school to teach mathematics and handle the growing athletic organizations. His success in his work is known to everyone connected with the Farm Life. This, with his good humor and fine sense of sportsmanship, has won for him an enviable place in the hearts of the members of our institution.

Jack—I called on Mabel last night, and I wasn't any more than inside the door before her mother asked me my intentions.

John—That must have been embarrassing.

Jack—Yes, but that's not the worst of it. Mabel called from upstairs and said, "That isn't the one, mother."

COUNSEL AND CO-OPERATION

More than any other business or professional man the funeral director must consider the feelings of those with whom he deals. This requires not only sympathy to comply with the most trivial wishes of his patrons. In this organization we make it a rule that the patron's wish is law. Our part is not to dictate, but to counsel and co-operate.

There were three negro boys being tried in court.

They were lined up in front of a cross-eyed Judge. The judge said to the first one, "What is your name?"

The second boy said, "John Brown."

The judge said, "I wasn't talking to you."

The third boy said, "Well, I didn't say anything."

MUST HAVE MEANT JANUARY

A merchant in a Wisconsin town, who had a Swedish clerk, sent him out to do some collecting. When he returned from an unsuccessful trip he reported:

"Yim Yonson say he vill pay ven he sell his hogs. Yim Yolson he vill pay ven he sell his wheat and Bill Paek say he vill pay in Yanuary.

"Well," said the boss, "that's the first time Bill ever set a date to pay. Did he really say he would pay in January?"

"Vell, Aye tank so," said the clerk. "He said it bane cold day ven you get that money. Aye tank that bane in Yanuary."

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

What a fine sigh we breathe as we lay down our last pen and thank heaven it is over. Our next thought allows a bit of regret to slip in for it has been fun and the pleasure is not drowned by the pain. We wish to express our appreciation of the patience and faithful service of our helpers and inspirers. We bow to our photographer, Mr. Alexander; to our engraver, Jahn & Ollier; to our printer, Observer Printing House, Inc., and to our at home supporters, Mr. Johnson, the faculty, the student body, and our advertisers.
